Customer Problem Statement Template

The problem statements below are written from the customer's point of view using the template structure: I am (Customer) → I'm trying to → But → Because → Which makes me feel. This structure is used to clearly describe the customer, the goal, the barrier, its cause, and the resulting feeling.

Problem Statement 1 (PS-1)

Problem Statement (PS)	I am (Customer)	I'm trying to	But	Because	Which makes me feel
PS-1	an employee who needs a rental car for official travel	submit a car rental request and get a suitable vehicle approved quickly	I have to coordinate manually with the manager and transport team, and the request status is not always clear	there is no single automated process for collecting request details, routing approvals, assigning fulfillment tasks, and communicating updates	frustrated and uncertain about whether the vehicle will be available on time

Problem Statement (PS)	I am (Customer)	I'm trying to	But	Because	Which makes me feel
PS-2	a transport/fulfillment team member responsible for arranging rental cars	process approved car rental requests efficiently and assign the right vehicle	request information may be incomplete or scattered, and tasks and approvals may require manual follow-up	the existing process does not automatically create and assign fulfillment tasks or provide consistent request information and notifications	overloaded and concerned about delays, errors, and missed requests

Overall Problem Summary

The Car Rental Request process needs a centralized ServiceNow solution that captures all required rental details through a Service Catalog item and automates approval, fulfillment task creation, request information retrieval, and notifications. This will reduce manual coordination and improve visibility for both requesters and the transport team.

Reference: Customer Problem Statement template. The supplied template explains that a well-articulated problem statement should focus on the customer's point of view and uses the I am / I'm trying to / But / Because / Which makes me feel structure.
